INDIANAPOLIS, March 19 .- A flaring gas-jet in the Bowen-Merrill big book establishment, on Washington street, at 4 p. m. Monday, caused the most terrible conflagration and catastrophe this city has witnessed for many years. The jet set fire to a box of slates, and the flames spread rapidly among the papers, books and packing material.

Soon dense columns of smoke rolled through the immense building, and the firemen had great difficulty in suppressing the flames. The fire leaped to every floor of the block through the elevator, and the whole strength of the lire department was called out too late.

Burned In the Rulus. At 5:30 p. in. a number of firemen were on a ladder placed against a rear wall, while others had forced themselves into the basement below, when suddenly the roof of the rear portion crumbled, the rear wall plunged outward, and the sides fell heavily, carrying a score or more of firemen down. some of them to their death. "Save the Boys 1"

It was an appalling sight to the thousands of spectators, and not until Charles Jenkins, a pipeman, staggered out of the smoke and dirt with his skull laid bare by a terrible gash, crying: "Save them! Save the boys!" did all realize what had happened.

To the Rescne.

Brave liands then tore the debris away and Welb Robinson, pipeman of the Fives, was first rescued with a broken ankle. Then Engineer George Faulkner of the Ones was taken out unconconscious, but he died in a few minutes. Captain Sam. Neal of the chemical No. 1 was rescued next with a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Capt. William Long, of the Sevens, lay in the debris for an hour, while a stream of water prevented his being burned alive. His head was badly bruised and burned, but unless his internal injuries are severe, will recover. Driver Eb Leach, of the Twos, was pulled out of a pile of burning rubbish in time to save his life.

The body of George Glenn, driver of the Tens, was found with his life crushed out and almost beyond recognition.

Ulysses Glazier, pipeman, died in his brother's arms before he could be extricated from the wreck.

William Tallentyre was pulled out with an arm broken in two places. Great Heat.

The heat of the burning debris made the work of the rescuers very slow.

About 10 p. m. the body of Superintendent Andrew Cherry, of the fire alarm telegraph, was found mldway between two walls, where he fell when the roof went down. The remains were badly crushed. William Partee, pipeman, was taken ont in an unconscious condition. Capt. William McGinness, of the Eighths, who was carried down with the roof, was badly injured internally. At midnight the rescuing party located William Jones, Hiram Woodruff, Richard Lowry and John Burkhardt. The former was held in the debris by heavy beams across his body, and it required the work of hours to get him out.

Stormer and Woodruff were dead, but
Burkhardt was still alive, and an effort was made to relieve him by a tunnel through the walls of the adjoining building.
Al. Huffman, Thomas Black and Peter

Daugherty, pipemen, are missing, and their dead bodies are supposed to be at the bottom of the wreck. Pipeman William Hensley was rescued with three ribs broken. Two newsboys are reported to have been under the walls with the firemen, and must have perished in the wreck. The bodies of the dead firemen were taken to the morgue, where many pathetic scenes were witnessed when the blackened remains were identified by stricken relatives. The Love.

The loss of the Bowen Merrill company by the fire will reach $160,000 on stock and building. The latter is owned by Mr. Bowen, the scnior partner, and the loss on it is about $75,000. The insurance will reach about $70,000.

H. P. Wasson, dry goods, D. J. Sullivan, dry goods, and other establishments occupying adjoining blocks, were sufferers by the smoke to the extent of some thousands of dollars. The work of rescue was kept up all night by the means of electric lights.

There is a rumor that the fire originated in the basement from the furnace. but in what manner is not known. The furnace was recently relitted and was supposed to be in good condition.

The House Committee Amend the Paraagraph on Free Coinage.

WASHINGTON, March 19. - Eleven members of the house committee on coinage, weights and measures were present Monday when the Windom silver bill was again under discussion. section in the bill authorizing the secretary of the treasury to suspend temporarily the receipt of silver bullion at any time when he is satisfied that through combination or speculative manipulation of the market the price of silver is arbitrary nominal or fictitious. A motion offered by Mr. Bartine, providing that the notes issued for silver bullion deposited shall be redeemed upon demand in lawful money, was lost and a motion to reconsider made, which was pending when the hour of adjournment arrived. The bill thus goes over until next Monday. In fact, several members of the committee were absent from Monday morning's meeting, what was done Monday may be recalled and amended again at the next meeting.

Chosen as the Date for Opening the World's Fair,

And the 20th of the Following October for Closing.

The Dates, However, May Be Changed. Lively Discussion at the Meeting of the World's Fair Committee of the House in Regard to the Subscription List. New York Still Kicking.

WASHINGTON, March 19 .- There was another lively meeting of the world's fair committee Monday. Messrs. Frank of Missouri, and Bowden of Virginia, were absent from the city, and Mr. Wilson was engaged in the ballot-box investigation. As a consequence Chicago temporarily lost two members favorable to her, and the committee was tied up so as to be unable to achieve any positive progress.

The fifth section of the bill was the first matter under discussion. To this section Mr. Belden, of New York, last Saturday offered an amendment requiring a positive guarantee by the citizens of Chicago of a $10,000,000 fund. It soon became evident that the committee was equally divided on this proposition, so it was passed over for the time. When man Canler proposed to fill in the blanks so as to provide for the dedication and celebration, Oct. 12, 1892, and for the holding of the fair in 1893.

The Chicago members had all along declared that they were prepared to accept the views of the committee on this point, although personally they felt that, in justice to the foreign exhibitors and in view of the delay on the part of congress in acting upon the subject, it would be better to hold the fair in 1893. Therefore, when the question was put on Mr. (andler's motion, the refrained from voting, and the chairman found himself alone in voting for the motion, and it was lost.

Dates May be Changed.

Thereupon the dates were filled in to require the fair to be opened April 30, 1892, and closed Oct. 20 of the same year. The entire bill was then read over and agreed upon, except Section 5, which will be acted upon at another meeting to be held, when it is hoped a full attendance will be had. It is probable that if providing for free coinage when the price of silver reaches $1 for 371.25 grains they will make an effort to reverse the of pure silver, was voted upon, and action of fixing the date for holding the

Mr. Williams offered an amendment, which was adopted striking out the getting to the meeting, and had he de-It appears that Mr. Belden was late in layed a little longer the committee would have agreed upon a report to the house on the lines of the sub-committee bill. But as soon as he took his seat he called up his motion of last Saturday, relative to the $10,000,000 fund, and there was an animated discussion. The Chicago man insisted upon the sufficiency of their subscription, but Mr. Belden wished to see the subscription lists. The chairman produced a list of names to which the New Yorkers objected, on the ground that the names were unattached to a heading, and that therefore it was worthless, financially.

The Chicago men explained that this list was a copy of the original list, which was properly headed and had been seen by the chairman and sub-committee. The original had been taken to Chicago, where it was in use by the finance committee. This failed to satisfy the New York representatives.

Mr. Springer remarked in a facetious manner that he and Mr. Hitt would assume the $10,000,000 obligation, and reminded Messrs. Flower and Belden that they had tried to bluff the house by the drymen met in this city Monday night, same remark when the bill was under and decided that the association shall do discussion. He insisted that the best financiers had said that the Chicago subthe Chinese the control of the laundry scription list was worth ninety-eight business. This action was precipitated cents on the $1 in any money market, by the attempt of six Chinese companies and wound up with the declaration that to purchase the largest laundries in the Chicago was all right financially; that her interests were at stake in the fair, and that she would not be done out of it.

Tuesday's Session. Mr. Wilson, of West Virginia, who is one of the Washington representatives on the world's fair committee, was present when the committee met Tuesday morning to consider the Chicago bill, and as a consequence, the dead-lock that has existed in the committee was broken and the fifth section of the bill, providing for the financial scheme on which the fair shall be conducted, was passed upon. The members of the committee present were: Messrs. Candler (chairman); Hitt and Springer, of Illinois: Wilson, of West Virginia; Belden, of New York, and Hatch, of Missouri. The amendment offered Monday by Mr. Belden, providing for a financial plan, was voted down, and Mr. Wilson offered as a substitute for the fifth section an amendment providing that when the president is satisfied that Chicago has raised or provided a fund of $10,000,000, he shall issue his proclamation in regard to the fair, and inviting foreign patrons to participate. Messrs. Candler, Hitt, Springer and Wilson voted for this, and the amend-ment was carried. This completed the bill and Mr. Candler, the chairman, was instructed to report it to the house, and to call it up for consideration at the earliest possible date.

BUTTE, Mont., March 19.—An attempt was made here Monday morning to take the life of J. V. Skidmore by blowing him up with giant power. Skidmore superlutendent and chief clerk of the rail- last fall jumped a claim and built a cabin, which he now occupies. He was absent from the cabin a few minutes

Monday morning, and when he again entered an explosion took place, which knocked him senseless, killed his dog, knocked a hole through the roof and floor of the cabin, and shattered things generally. Skidinore's face was lacerated by two pieces of iron, one of his legs was a mass of wounds and the other was also injured. It is supposed an enemy put a can of giant power in the cabin during Skidmore's temporary absence and lighted a slow fuse.

OUR TURRETED MONITORS.

Wonderful Changes to be Made by the Outlay of $500,000.

NEW YORK, March 19.-The Times says it is reported that strong elforts are about to be made in certain naval quarters to induce congress to authorize the converting of the single turreted monitors of the navy into "floating batter-

The idea proposed is to take off the turrets altogether and supply each vessel with two or more guns mounted on disappearing carriages, of the type now made by the Pneumatic Gun Carriage and Power company.

A bill with this very object in view has already been introduced in the house authorizing the Pneumatic Gun Carriage and Power company to convert the single turreted monitors Wyandotte and

Nantucket into "floating batteries."

The project, in its first conception, does not appear to have attracted much attention in the navy department, but recent claims advanced by President C. E. Crecy, of the Pneumatic Gun-Carriage company, have not only aroused the liveliest interest, but have caused Section 8 (which leaves blank the date for holding the fair) was reached, Chair-question, what to do with the old Ericsson monitors, has at last been answered.

The proposition now about to be advanced is the removal of the turrets and guns from not only the Wyandotte and Nantucket, but from all the single turreted monitors. It is pointed out that the present twelve-inch iron armor of the monitors' turrets can be pierced by projectiles from any of the six-inch steel guns, while the projectiles from the fifteen inch muzzle loading Dahlgrens of the monitors can be stopped by four inches of modern armor.

From the fact that the monitors are so weighed down that only about 20 per cent. of reserve buoyancy remains in their hulls, it would be unsafe to add additional weight consequent to strengthening the turret armor.

On the other hand it is pointed out that the turrets of the old monitors cannot be adopted to modern high power steel guns with any safety to guns or crew, from the fact that the revolving gear is so likely to jam on receiving heavy shocks. This trouble has been eliminated in the more modern turrets, but still exists in the original vessels we now have on hand.

It is therefore proposed to remove all this obsolete, inefficient material and utilize the weights thus saved by putting below the water line high powered eight or ten mich rifled steel guns, mounted upon the most improved carriages of the type for disappearing guns which has been adopted by the war department as the type of carriage to be used in our coast defenses.

In all there are thirteen single turreted monitors, which it is proposed to convert into "floating batteries." These vessels are the Ajax, Canonicus, Catskill, Jason, Lehigh, Mahopac, Manhattan, Montauk, Valiant, Wyandotte, Nantucket, Passaio and Commiche.

All the above vessels, representing an aggregate cost of $7,000,000, are at present lying "in ordinary," nine at City Point, Va., two at the Washington navyyard, one at Annapolis, and one at the Mare Island navy-yard.

These vessels are the only armored vessels that we now possess in a state of completion, and, though of antiquated type, will have to be depended upon in case of a declaration of war before other coast defense vessels are built. Inefficient as they are, they must be taken care of, which is effected at considerable expense to the navy. By clearing the turrets off the decks of these vessels, providing in heu of their present armament, high powered guns on disappearing mounts, the country could have, it is claimed, within six months, thirteen harbor vessels, actually available, at an expenditure of about $500,000. At the present time these monitors have a speed not much over six knots an hour.

Arkansas Safe Blowers.

FORT SMITH, Ark., March 19.—The circuit court clerk's office at Greenwood, Sebastian county, was entered by burglars Saturday night, but so far as can be learned, they secured only $600. They bored a hole in the door of the vault and blew that open, and then opened the county treasurer's safe on the inside and secured all the money it contained. The county collector has been at Greenwood all week collecting taxes, and the thieves evidently expected rich spoil.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 19, 1890.

The Administration Rebuked. The New York World says the "municipal elections throughout that State have always been held up by the Repub-sentiments of the people."

Measured by this rnle, the returns from the elections in the Empire State a few days ago do not contain much consolation for President Harrison. The World regards the result as a severe rebuke to the administration. Here are some of the facts and figures it gives:

"Rochester elected a Democratic Mayor for the first time in fourteen years. In 1888 the city gave Harrison a plurality of 2,627.

"In Newburg the Democrats made a clean sweep. Harrison's majority over Cleveland was 612, and for three years tbe Mayor has been a Republican.

Elmira, Governor Hill's home, elected the entire Democratic ticket by about 800 majority.

"Ulster County went Democratic, Harrison's majrity there was 338.

"The Democrats carried Dutchess County, which gave Harrison 1,016 over Cleveland.

"In Oneida County the Democrats made large gains. Harrison carried the county by 1,968 over Cleveland.

"Utica, the home of one of the muzzled Republican editors, now Sub-Treasurer in New York, elected a Democratic Mayor by 900 plurality, although the city went for Harrison in 1888.

"At Oswego, Port Jervis, Kingston, Amsterdam, Whitehall, Hornellsville, Bnffalo, Batavia and Dunkirk, all carried by Harrison, the Democrats were victorions."

In this connection it is not out of place to add that the Democrats bave been remarkably successful in every election of augurated. All of which shows that the and good will surely come of it. party of the people—the Democratic party-is much stronger to-day than it

Republican Outrages.

Mr. Cate is one of the Democrats recently ousted from a seat in Congress by Czar Reed and his followers. It is interesting and comforting to note, however, that there is at least one Republican Representative who not only refused to obey the caucus mandate of his party, but had the courage and manliness to stand up for the right and denonnce the outrageous action of his Republican brethren. Congressman Hitl is the gentleman, and he represents an Illinois district. Mr. Cate was elected, by a large majority, to represent one of the Arkatsas districts, but the Republicans onsted bim and seated the contestant, Featherstone. Mr. Hitt voted to retain the Democrat, and afterwards in explaining his action he said:

"I look upon myself in connection with these election cases as a juror, and have thus felt called upon to examine them in a judicial mauner. I have very carefully examined all the cyldence in this particular case, and, according to my best judgment, have no hesttancy in saying that Mr. Cate was fairly elected. There was no violence or intimidation at the time of the election in the district so far as I have been able to discover. I have given every possible advantage to Mr. Featherstone. in precincts where I thought he had not been fairly treated. I have thrown out the vote, a d in cases of votes of doubtful legality I have given the benefit of the doubt to Mr. Featherstone. Yet I still find him short of being elec ed by over 500 vo'es That being the case, I believed Mr. Cale to have been elected, and so I voted. There were other Republicans who were doubtful on the matter, but not having given it the attention I had, they voted with the majorlty '

From what Mr. Hitt says, an idea may be formed of the high handed manner in which the Republicane are conducting affairs at Washington. This ontrage, however, is in keeping with their conduct ever since Speaker Reed set bimself up as Dictator of the House. And It is just such outrages that will destroy, and ought to, destroy all confidence the people have in whatever party guilty of them.

The Peterman Text-book bill, wbicb passed the Senate, provides for the supply at that place, is the father of a bouncing of school books under contracts with publishers, whose books are adopted, at 30 or 40 per cent. lower than they have heretofore been furnished. The law is to go into effect after June 1st, 1890. There is a provision that the price of each shall be plainly printed on the cover, and that dealers are to have a discount of 163 per cent. from the retail price. It is probawas married recently to Rev. Whitty ble that the bill will find its way through the House without material modification.

One of the most important bills so far passed by the House is that to tax all ation. The bili requires every corporation, whether organized under special act the Auditor a tax of one-tenth of one per cent. upon the amount of capital stock which it is authorized to have. The tax is to be due upon incorporation, and a similar tax shall be imposed whenever the capital stock is increased. The act applies to all corporations that have been heretofore authorized to organize, but bave not filed their act of incorporation with the Secretary of State. The bill w's drawn at the suggestion of Auditor Norman, who estimates that it would increase the State revenue from forty to fifty thousand dollars a year. Similar laws are in successful operation in several Eastern and Northern States.

UNFORTUNATE

The Uncalled-For Action of the English Consul at Lisbon.

He Hoists the British Flag Over the Shire District.

The Portuguese Government Makes a Formal Protest to Lord Salisbury-An Attack on the British Legation Feared. Indications That the British Miners Will Win Their Strike.

LISBON, March 19.—The action of Mr. Buchanan, the acting counsel for England, in hoisting the British flag in the Shire district has caused great excitement here. The government has made a formal protest to Lord Salisbury against the action of Mr. Buchanan. The feeling runs so high that it is feared an attack may be made upon the British legation, and a guard of troops has been placed there to prevent any hostile demonstration. The cabinet was specially summoned Monday afternoon to consider the situation of affairs.

From an English Standpoint.

LONDON, March 19.—The revival of the anti-English excitement in Lisbon in consequence of the action of Acting Consul Buchanan in raising the British flag over the Shire district is everywhere regarded as unfortunate.

The exhibition of popular feeling against England and everything English, which followed Lord Salisbury's ultimatum, without doubt sybsided just in time to prevent Portugal from getting into trovble, and it is the general opinion that Lisbon authorities would better serve the interests of their country by speedily suppressing the idiotic frenzy of the people, which threatens injury to the British legation, than by indulging in impotent official raving against the investigation of an investigable for inevitable action of an irresistable foe, meanwhile, leaving irresponsible students and others to commit oulrages for which the government must answer.

It is not at all likely that Consul Buchanan has acted with authority, therefore it may be accepted as a foregone conclusion that the protest which Portugal has lodged against his formal occupation of the disputed territory, will meet with a reception similar to that which Lord Salisbury has given to the previous protests of the Lisbon government. In all respects the situation seems more grave for Portugal than at any previous stage of the controversy, and it is the more unfortunate that the Lisbon authorities appear to be unable to realize that fact.

THE BRITISH MINERS.

The Outlook for Their Victory Grows More Favorable Hourly.

London, March 19.—The supply of coal owing to the strike of the miners is GOOD GOODS AT LOW PRICES! rapidly growing less. On account of the scarcity of coal the cotton mills at Acerington, Blackburn, Bury and Bolton are shutting down. The Southwestern railroad company has also been compelled to stop the waiting-room fires.

The outlook for a victory for the striking miners grows more favorable hourly. It looks now as if the men would surely win. Many more of the mine owners in Nottinghamshire and Lancashire have conceded the demands of the men. The feeling is growing that the men will refuse to meet on Thursday the committee of mine owners appointed for the purjusting their differences. It is believed the men will insist on their demands in
